They Mave Hired the Garden for Another Show During Thanksgiving Week of 1896-The Holsteins and Jerseys Occapled Mostlof the Judges' Time Yesterday -An Interesting Programme for Te-day,

With success there is no lack of striving to keep the Live Stock Show worth visiting. The ring is used in turn for competitions in sheep shearing and sheep herding by the trained collies, and for parades of the blue ribbon winners in all the classes, so that something is always est. The centlemen farmers are well satisfied with the attention their show has received from the public. They have hired Madison Square Garden for Thanksgiving week in 1896 and announce that the exhibition will be held every year hereafter.

Holstein-Frieslans, with coats of a decided black and white in irregular patches that recall the fashionable spotted coach dogs of a decade ago, had the first place in the ring during yesterday afternoon. For the best breeders' herd A. A. Cortelyou's Count Mechthilde De Kol, and his attendant cows and helfers, had a walkover, and the drove was lavishly festooned with blue rabbons when the herdsmen led the cattle back to their stalls. The bull is a gigantic specimen, as stow in motion and as placid in disposition as a portly Dutch burgomaster. Another Hol-land breed, which is a favorite with the visitors, is the Dutch belted tribe. Generations ago this breed was a fancy with the worthy lords of the land of dy'tes, canals, and windmills, and with infinite care they produced a strain of cattle white about the girth and black in the fore and hind quarters. The white belt has been exactly reproduced in every gen-eration. The calf born at the show on Thanksgiving morning is of this breed. It looks like a woman's muff walking on stilts. The little fellow is white amidships and has a black bow and stern, like its pa and ma. It weighs about twenty-five pounds, a decided contrast to the heavy weight of the show, a bull who tips the scales at 2,655 pounds.

Unlike the horses, who were the attraction at the show a fortnight ago, the live stock exhibits seems to be more at case on every succeeding day. The horses became irritable and fractious after the second day's confinement in the close quarters, but the cattle, sheep, calves, and lambs, develop an unexpected geniality and sociability. Like spaniols at a bench show, they seem to enjoy being petted. Even the bulls, when they are not sprawied out in slumber, act as though they rather liked the visitors to pat their sleek coats. It is abways a surprise to find how smooth and velvety the coats are. Technically it is called the "feel" by the cattlemen and when not at a show the prize bulls are kept and when not at a show the prize bulls are kent well wrapped up in blankets to increase the beauty and softness of their coats.

The swine are so well contented with their straw beds that they project with grunts as shrill as a steam calliope when they are forced to leave the pens and walk into the ring to be judged. They hate to be disturbed, like their human prototypes who sit sideways with crossed legs in the elevated cars.

In a anug little stail between the hackney ponies and the team of elks is a freek lamb, who demands attention by playfully butting at the spectators. It gives the unwarned, who pat his head a shock when they see four crooked horns projecting from the wool in the place where two ought to grow. The poultry, pigeons, and pheassants are on the balcony in front of the stail of the freak lamb. There is always a crowd before the feathered champions.

As an educator the show has fulfilled a mission. The visitors who have noted the points of the horned and woolly animals will be able to give tips to the farmer they board with next summer. The official catalogue has a cover as gorgeous as the book programme of a college football game, and even a hasty scanning of its pages is warranted to convert the most conserv-ative city denizen into a bucolic sharp. When the book falls, the herdsmen and shepherds will

All the blooms in the Concert Hall are fresh cuts, and the floral display has also been added to by novelities in orchida. A new flowering plant, the African violet, is one of the additions. The leaves show three shades of green in their development, the full-grown leaf being dark and furry, the under side being a deep crimson. The flower resembles the ordinary violet, with a stud-like yellow heart. A new orchid is a variety of the green and amber "lady's purse," the cypripedium spicerianum. Three special competitions were decided yesterday. The $50 prize for the best display of roses was awarded to John N. May of Summit, N. J., who showed clusters of the Mrs. W. C. Whitney, Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, and the Bride tea roses, all varieties brought out in his greenhouses. I. M. Noe of Madison, N. J., won a silver cup for his fine display of the American Beauty, and C. W. Ward of Queens, N. Y., won his second silver cup with carnations. There is a fine vase of American Bells, hailed as a rival to the American Beauty. On a platform with the American Beauty display are some splendid blooms of the largest white rose, the Augusta Victoria, forming a striking contrast in colors.

Yesterday was Jersey and Hoistein day, nearly all of the cattle classes being given over to these two well-known families of milk and butter producers. Each breed has its friends and lits strong points, the neat, finely formed, favorable in the big, raw money in extendition of the world's record for milk. Perterje, a cow of this Dutch breed, gave over 30,000 nounds of milk in twelve months for D. F. Whipple of Cuba, N. Y., a few years ago. A. H. Cortelyou of Neshantle, N. J., almost monopolized the honors in the Holstein division by winning every blue ribbon that was awarded and defraction of the cows in the latter herd. De Kol's Queen the 2d, holds the champion three-year-old record as a butter maker in the Holstein family, having made a trife over four pounds a day for seven consecutive days. Another cow Grett Hartoz, who was beaten by Cortelyou's Alexina in the aged class, gave 300 pounds of milk, from which twenty pounds of butter were made, within a well-an animal of one of the best breed. When the first Holstein breed in America, the base of the Holstein breed in America, the base of the Holstein breed in America, the base of the Holstein breed in America, the base claimed that they were about as valuable for bulle of the Holstein breed in America, the base claimed that they were about as valuable for bulle of the Holstein breed in America, the base of the Holstein were imported to America, the base of the Holstein breed in the south of the Holstein were imported to America, the base of the Holstein were imported to America it was claimed that they were about as valuable for beef as for milk but experience has shown that the latter hold is their strong one, and five breeders are now to be found who bulleys in the last of the base of

In the sweepstakes class for the best Jersey buil of any age in the show, Miller & Sibley's Major Appel Pogis won the silver cup, heating some of the hest builts in the country. The champion cup for cows went to T. S. Casper's Wardalid, who defeated the Miller & Sibley entry, Garibaldi's Kate H.

The Monmouth Country Huntscored another algosis victory at the evening shaw in the jumping competition for the club championship and a prize of $500. Jimmy Hute riding Ascetic, the Dutchman, and Ascetic H. Into the winners's place sad defeating the Richmond County Hunt's Giamonde, Hius Peter, and another, ridden by Stanton Elliott and Dick Bonnelly, and the Broollyn Riding and Driving Club's representatives, Perfection, Riack Witch, and Twinkie, all belogging to J. R. & F. D. Beard, and ridden by C. E. Robbins. The conditions called for the best performance over fonces by three hunters from a recognized hunt club, the best aggregate score towin.

terday by a committee from the exhibitors:

We, the undersigned, exhibitors at the first annual show of the Live Stock Society of America, representing the pedigreed stock breeding industry from the Atlantic coast to the Missouri River, desire to express to you our hearty appreciation of the consideration and courseles we have received at this mideration and courseles we have received at this mideration exhibition have a series assembled on this continent.

We wish especially to place on record our appreciation of the public spirit of the members of this society, whose generous subscriptions have made possible the liberal prizes offered. The executive of ficers of the show. President Davison, Secretary Terry, and Superintendent Mortimer, are entitled to warm praise for the satisfactory manner in which the definition of the exhibition have been conducted, and where with tender our thanks to them for their efforts of the safe. herewith tender our thanks to them for their enough in our behalf.

We believe that this initial effort to establish an annual live stock show in New York has proved, beyond doubt, that such an exhibition can be made from the first success, and we herewith pledge our hearty support to the future shows of the Live Stock Society of America.

great success, and we herewith piedge our hearty support to the future shows of the Live Stock Boolety of America.

The programme for to-day is an interesting one. The Shelland ponies will be judged during the morning hours, along with the Normandy and Dutch beited cattle. In the afternoon some twenty-five or thirty representative herds of cattle will come into commentation for the championship priges open to all breeds, making what is likely to be the largest and keenest competition of the kind ever seen in this country. All of the winners in the Shorthorn, Hereford, and Angus classes will come together in the events for the beof breeds, while the winning Jerseys, Guernaeys, Holsteins, and Ayrshires will meet for a battle royal in the dalry division.

The feature of the evening programme and of the week will be the grand parado of all prize winners, decorated with their ribbons.

MR. VAN SANTYOORD'S NEW YACHT

The Clermont's Owner Having a 75-foot Twin-screw Naphtha Launch Built, Commodore Alfred Van Santvoord, an oldtime yachtsman, whose side-wheel steam yacht Clermont attracts so much attention at every port she enters, has made another departure from the ordinary line of pleasure craft by from the ordinary line of pleasure craft by ordering a twin-screw naphtha yacht. The new boat, which will be used for an extended cruise in Florida waters this winter, will be one of the largest boats of her type yet constructed. The new boat will be 75 feet over all, 12 feet 6 inches beam, with draught of 3 feet. She will be fitted with staterooms, a dining room, galley, and tollet room, as well as adequate quarters for her crew. In fact, she will have all the conveniences and accommodations of a steam yacht of twice her size, together with light draught and a small crew.

The engine equipment will consist of two 12 horse-power naubtha motors, operated entirely independent of each other, so that with both running a speed of nine miles per hour will be obtained, or half speed with one motor. This arrangement is desirable, as in case of mishap to one motor the other may be used. Besides, there are two masts with sails, which may be utilized in favoring winds and to economize fuel on long trips, aithough there is fuel capacity for 500 miles provided for the motors.

The boat is already in frame and will be ready for departure on the Southern trip by the middle of January.

TALE AND QUARERS MAKE UP. They Have Practically Agreed to Play Football Next Year.

It is said on excellent authority that the differences between Yale and the University of Vennsylvania, which have existed during the past two years, have been patched up and that the two colleges will meet on the gridiron next fall. THE SUN'S informant said yesterday that the colleges have agreed to play, and that a special conference committee will soon be appointed to decide upon the date, place, and rules. It is understood that Pennsylvania will agree to the enforcement of an undergraduate rule, omething like the one that governs the Yale and Princeton elevens, and that whatever reasonable demands Yale may make will be acseded to. In all probability the game will be played in this city, as Yale certainly wouldn't go to Philadelphia, and the Quakers wouldn' go to Philadelphia, and the Quakers wouldn't think of playing in New Haven. An effort will be made to have the date about two weeks before that of the Yale-Princeton game, which, of course, will be played on the Saturday previous to Thanksgiving Day.

This mive on the part of Yale means that no attempt will be made to open negotiations for a game with Havvard. Local Yale mean regard the scheme with favor, for they argue that it would be more of a feather in Yale's cap to beat Pennsylvania than to down the Crimsons. The Quakers have conducted their football affairs this year with the utmost fairness and deserve recognition. Yale's willingness to forget the past and meet them on the football field is certainly sportsmanlike.

The Pennsylvania team will lose probably Brooke, Williams, Wagenhorst, Bull, and Wharton, but there is some excellent material on hand, and another strong team may be turned out next year. The Pennsylvania faculty has passed some stringent rules regarding students who shirk their duties for sports, and only on Wednesday Boyle, the left and of the eleven, was prohibited from taking part in the game against Cornell because he was behind in his studies.

F. M. M. Birkhead is presiding steward. The application of H. A. Morey for reinstatement was denied. SEVENTH REGIMENT ATRILETICS.

The Coming Games Not Registered, but a Big Night's Sport Is Assured. Another futile attempt has been made to Bring about a reconciliation between the Seventh Regiment A. A. and the Metropolitan Associa-tion of the A. A. U. President Sullivan of the latter body and President Walter G. Schuyler of the military organization have had several informal chats on the subject recently, and for a time it looked as if the breach would be bridged over. No settlement has been reached, however, and the mediators who have been laboring quietly but hopefully are grievously

The trouble is long since a matter of athletic history. A prize rule which no longer appears in the A. A. U. handbook limited the value and variety of trophies in a fashion which conflicted with the generous theories of the Seventh Regiment athletic officials some years ago, and since then the games have not been registered. There was a strong flavor of personality in the quarrel which followed the original misunderstanding, and it is a hopeful sign to find those concerned inclined to discuss the question amicably even if it is not yet ripe for final adjustment.

It was partially understood during the latest conference on the subject that in case the Seventh Regiment Association applied for registration and agreed to abide by the rules of the A. A. U. in future, Mr. Sullivan would endeavor to have all the suspended athletes reinstated. This would be a good thing for metropolitan sport and would give the soldier athletes a chance to compete at all other games in and out of doors. As the matter now stands all who compete at the next big games of the regiment, on Dec. 7, suffer suspension.

This fact has had little perceptible influence on the entry list, which has filled up in a fashion most gratifying to the promoters. Counting trial heats the programme includes thirty items, so that patrons of the games are assured of a lively time. The length of the card will require unusual promptitude, and to this end the following experts have consented to officiate:

HANDBALL.

Brooklyn Christians Will Have a Chanto See the Champtons Play.

There will be some gilt-edged handball at the Y. M. C. A., corner of Fulton and Bond streets, Brooklyn, this afternoon, Champion Phil Casey having organized a representative team for a series of exhibition games. The visiting players will be James Dunne, Jr., of Brown University; and Phil Casey. The Christians expect to have a quartet of their best players on hand to make things more interesting. The Brooklyn Ciub's cracks are in rare trim, having spent the greater part of Thanksgiving Day in lively pur-ent of the little sphere. Their principal scores than were evenings from Bec. S to Christman.

Thursday evening a party of experienced travellers employed by Morgan & Wright, Chicago, reached this city on a special car, which, between November 18 and the day before Christmas, is expected to carry them into about fifty principal cities between Canada and the Gulf, and the Atlantic Coast and Missouri River. Coast and Missouri River.

The cycling public of New York and Brooklyn is invited to an informal reception on car "Wanderer" at Grand Central Sta-tion, 42d St., this evening, from 7:30 to 10, Souvenirs for ladies.

Oto stew is red.

The purpose is to show bicycle dealers and riders, by actual demonstration, the simplicity of the Morgan & Wright quick repair tire. This tire is a distinct improvement upon previous ideas. It enables the bicycle rider to make a PERMANENT REPAIR at the roadside, WITHIN TWO MINUTES WITHOUT HURRYING.

This quick-repair tire is easily distinguished by its red-valve stem. All riders are invited to ask Morgan & Wright, Chicago, for a beautiful pamphlet (illustrated from life) describing the idea. Meantime, don't forget the household phrase—

An Interesting Contest at the Fairfield County Golf Club,

The Fairfield County Golf Club held its second handicap match on Thanksgiving Day, and the enthusiasm clearly proved that the game is pop-ular with the residents of fashionable Greenwich. Many of the summer residents still remain in their pretty villas, and have played golf so earnestly during the autumn that already the club has some golfers who really surprise risitors from the older clubs that have attended he games and matches held by this young on ganization.

The first match was on election day, when President J. W. Curtiss presented handsome silver cups as the prizes in competitions for the women and men players. Mr. Curriss won the men's cup. playing from scratch, and Mrs. George P. Sheldon carried off the honors in the women's game. Following Mr. Curtiss's victory came the announcement that he would again present the cup to the club, to be played for in a series of five handicap matches, the first to be played on Thanksgiving Day and the other's matches on the four succeeding Saturdays, the cup to become the property of the member winning the greatest number of the matches. On Thanksgiving Day a pretty silver medal was also put up for the ladies' handicap.

The weather was all that could be desired, a perfect day, and the links were in good condition. The Handicap Compiltee consisted of silver cups as the prizes in competitions for the a newestner was all that could be desired, a perfect day, and the links were in good condition. The Handleap Committee consisted of Frank M. Freeman, Dwight W. Bowles, and Roswell D. Trimble, who did their work to the entire satisfaction of all the members, although some of the scores handed in will no doubt cause the committee to revise the list.

The net scores of the competitors who made the full course of eighteen holes were:

President J. W. Curtiss, scratch, 128; Dr. Carl E. Martin, scratch, 108; E. B. Curtiss, scratch, 107; D. W. Bowles, 20, 117; U. D. Trimble, 25, 141; C. T. Pierce, 14, 187; Janies McCutcheon, 17, 114; V. H. Davis, 20, 115; W. E. Smith, 83, 185; George P. Sheldon, 38, 159; Mrs. J. P. Gray, scratch, 143; Mrs. John Boswell, 70, 135; Mrs. J. Pott. Jr. 04, 188; Mrs. John Boswell, 70, 135; Mrs. J. Pott. Jr. 04, 187; Mrs. F. Freeman, 80, 155; Mrs. F. C. Hilliard, 80, 120.

As the scores show, E. B. Curtiss won the cup

As the scores show. E. B. Curtiss won the oup in 107, and Mrs. F. C. Hilliard, with an allow-sace of 80, won the ladges' medal with a score of 120 net. The handsome club house was thronged all day with members and their friends. A very substantial luncheon of turkey and other good things was apread, so that players could remain and enjoy the sport all day, some going over the ocurse four or five times enjoying to the full the invigorating fresh air and beautiful views of the Sound.

Sound.

To-day's games include the competition for the sliver cup presented by Charles E. Sands for non-winners during the season on the St. Andrews' links, a foursome match at the South Orange Field Club, the final games in the Boggy competition on the Bockaway, Hunt Club links at Cedarhurst, and the continuation of the match competition on the Rockaway, Hunt Cinb links a Cedurhurst, and the continuation of the match for the Henry Tolercup at the Baltusrol Golf Cinb.

WHERLING.

Suspended Riders Will Bring Their Cases

The suspension of F. J. Titus, L. D. Cabanne, and C. M. Murphy from all races held under the jurisdiction of the L. A. W. is still the chief topic of conversation among wheelmen. A re-porter of THE SUN interviewed F. J. Titus yesterday. Titus says that the decision of the Racing Board was a great surprise to him, as he stoutly maintains that neither Murphy. Cabanne, nor himself are guilty of the charges. He further says that the Riverside Wheelmen, of which he is a member, intend to bring the case before the National Assembly, when, he believes, the decision will be reversed. Titus says, he understands that of the five members of the Racing Board, two voted for acquittal, two for conviction, and that Chairman (ideon cast the final vote, which was to convict. In the event of his not being reinstated Titus infers that he might race as a professional in France.

Howard E. Haymond, ex-Chairman of the Hacing Board, was in town yesterday. He will sail for Europe to-day. He refused to comment upon the suspension of the three noted class B men.

The Kings County Wheelmen will likely take some steps to have Murphy's case reconsidered, as Murphy is an old and popular member of the Brooklyn organization. There is some talk of circulating betitions to present to the National Assembly to have the men suspended for a short period only.

A prominent member of the L. A. W. stated yesterday that there seems to be little chance of the riders getting any redress from the courts, as all race meet programmes announce specifically that the class A. B, and professional races are held under the L. A. W. rules, and all contestants lay themselves liable to these rules for any violations of the same. Racing Board was a great surprise to him, as he

Bowlers at the Dance.

The bowling alleys were deserted on Thanksgiving night because the annual entertainment and ball of the United Bowling Clubs was held at Turn Hall in East Fourth street. When held at Turn Hall in East Fourth street. When the curtain arose on the opening sketch the bail was crowded to the doors. The building was tastefully decorated. Long streamers hing from the ceiling and the walls were covered with banners and flags. The affair was a thorough success. Such well-known bowlers as doe Thum, Charles F. Nighttsch, Louis Stein, and George Schenck took an active part in the affair. The United Bowling Chubs comprise nearly seventy organizations, and, as usual, the Aurania Club led the way, only a few of its members failing to attend. At the class of the custerial ment the floor was cleared and dancing followed until an early hoar yesterday morning. Among those present were:
